

August 10, 2004

Members of the United States Postal Inspection Service present Assistant U.S. Attorney Al Rubega with a Certificate of Appreciation for his leadership that led to the federal indictments of Martin (a.k.a. Roberta) Curran. Curran and Christopher Valiz had numerous federal violations including identity fraud, bank fraud and social security fraud. The case was coordinated by the U.S. Attorney's Identity Theft and Fraud Working Group which involved assistance from the U.S. Postal Inspection Service, U.S. Social Security Administration, IG, U.S. State Department Diplomatic Security and the NH Highway Patrol and Enforcement Bureau. Curran entered a guilty plea at U.S. District Court in Concord, NH on June 29, 2004.

Pictured left to right: U.S. Attorney Tom Colantuono, Assistant U.S. Attorney Al Rubega, U.S. Postal Investigator Dale Callan, and U.S. Postal Investigative Service Inspector in Charge Kenneth R. Jones